

Delivery System

In order to meet all of the goals included in the Oak Hills High School counseling program for each student, the guidance staff will utilize a variety of delivery methods.

- Guidance Curriculum—Counselors will collaborate with teachers to include instruction in the student competencies included in the counseling program. This may also include classroom activities directed by the counselors as well as small group activities.
- Individual Student Planning — Counselors will meet with students throughout the school year to assist them in planning, monitoring, and managing their own academic, personal/social, and career development.
- Response Services — Students may need to meet with counselors in response to an immediate need or concern. These services may take the form of individual counseling, crisis team, conflict resolution, short-term counseling, group counseling, referrals, and consultation.
- Systems Support —The guidance staff may also provide assistance with student assessments, individual and school-wide, for example, the California High School Exit Exam, PSAT , ACT, ACCUPLACER, and the Advanced Placement Tests.
